

Your application and credit scoring

Use of your personal and business information

What is a Credit Reference Agency?

Credit reference agencies (CRAs) collect and maintain information on consumers' and businesses' credit behaviour, on behalf of organisations in the UK.

What is a Fraud Prevention Agency?

Fraud prevention agencies (FPAs) collect, maintain and share information on known and suspected fraudulent activity. Some CRAs also act as FPAs.

Why do you use them when I have applied to your organisation?

Although you have applied to Santander, we will check our own records, and we will also contact the CRAs to get information on your credit behaviour with other organisations. This will help us make the best possible assessment of your overall situation before we make a decision.

Where do they get the information?

- Publicly available information:
 - The Electoral Register from Local Authorities;
 - County Court Judgments from Registry Trust;
 - Bankruptcy (and other similar orders) from the Insolvency Service.
- Fraud information may also come from fraud prevention agencies.
- Credit information comes from applications to banks, building societies, credit card companies, etc, and also from the conduct of those accounts.
- Company information and information about directors and shareholders comes from Companies House, other publicly available directories and proprietary directories at the CRAs.
- Information about proprietors of non limited businesses comes from publicly available directories and proprietary directories at the CRAs.

How will I know if my information is to be sent to a CRA or FPA?

You will be told when you apply for an account if your application data is to be supplied. The next section of this leaflet will tell you how, when and why we will search CRAs and FPAs and what we will do with the information we obtain from them. We will also tell you if we plan to send payment history information on you or your business, if you have one, to the CRAs. You can ask at any time the name of CRAs and FPAs.

Why is my data used in this way?

We and other organisations want to make the best possible decisions we can, in order to make sure that you, or your business, will be able to repay us. Some organisations may also use the information to check your identity. In this way we can ensure that we all make responsible decisions. At the same time we also want to make decisions quickly and easily and, by using up to date information, provided electronically, we are able to make the most reliable and fair decisions possible.

Who controls what these agencies are allowed to do with my data?

All organisations that collect and process personal data are regulated by data protection legislation, overseen by the Information Commissioner's Office. All credit reference agencies are in regular dialogue with the Commissioner. Use of the Electoral Register is controlled under the Representation of the People Act 2000 and the supplementary Regulations to the Representation of the People Act 2002. Use of data from Companies House, about directors, is controlled under the Companies Act 2006 and The Companies (Disclosure of Address) Regulations 2009.

Can just anyone look at my data held at the Credit Reference Agencies?

No, access to your information is very strictly controlled and only those that are entitled to do so may see it. Usually that will only be with your agreement or (very occasionally) if there is a legal requirement.

Read this section very carefully, it will vary from lender to lender

What Santander does

When you apply to us to open a business account or other lending products we may:

- Check our own records for information on:
 - personal accounts belonging to you and any business partners you may have (see note 1);
 - your business accounts;
 - any other beneficial owner if applicable
- Search at credit reference agencies for:
 - public data on you and your business partners' personal credit behaviour;
 - information on the conduct of your and your business partners' personal credit accounts if you are proprietors of a small business;
 - information on your business and your business accounts;
 - identity information on beneficial owners of the business;
 - your personal financial partner's (see note 2) personal accounts too, if you have one, so you must be sure to tell them this may happen; we will send a notification to them to this effect;
 - confirmation, if you are a director, that the residential address provided is the same as that shown on the restricted register of directors' usual addresses at Companies House;
- Search at fraud prevention agencies for information on your business, you, your personal financial partner, your business partners, beneficial owners and your address(es).

What we do with the information you supply to us as part of your application

- Information you supply to us about your business, you, your business partners and stakeholders will be sent to credit reference agencies along with details of your application, so you must be sure that you have the agreement of your business partners and shareholders to disclose information about them.
- If you give us false or inaccurate information and we suspect or identify fraud, we will record this and may also pass this information to fraud prevention agencies. The data we provide may be accessed and used by law enforcement agencies.

- Your data may also be used by us, to offer your business other products, but only if permitted.

With the information that we obtain we will

- assess this application for credit; and/or
- check details on applications for credit and credit related or other facilities;
- verify your identity and the identity of other directors/ business partners and shareholders;
- undertake checks for the prevention and detection of crime or fraud and/or money laundering;
- use scoring methods to assess this application.
- manage your personal and/or business account (if you have one) with ourselves;
- undertake periodic statistical analysis or testing to ensure the accuracy of existing and future products and services;

Any or all of these processes may be automated.

What we do when you have an account

- Where you borrow or may borrow from us, we will give details of your business account, including names and parties to the account, and how you manage it to credit reference agencies.
- We may make periodic searches of our own group records and credit reference agencies to manage your account with us, including whether to continue or extend existing credit. We may also check at fraud prevention agencies to prevent or detect fraud.
- If you borrow and do not repay in full and on time, we will tell the credit reference agencies.
- If you have borrowed from us and do not make payments that you owe us, we will trace your whereabouts and recover payment.
- If you open a business bank account with us, we will provide account turnover information each month to Government designated credit reference agencies under the Small and Medium Sized Business (Credit Information) Regulation 2015.

Note 1: If you are not authorised to give agreement on behalf of your business partners' for such checks to be carried out they will also need to give their agreement to proceed.

Note 2: A financial partner or associate will be someone with whom you have a personal relationship that creates a joint financial unit in a similar way to a married couple. You will have been living at the same address at the same time. It is not intended to include temporary arrangements such as students or rented flat sharers or business relationships.

What Credit Reference and Fraud Prevention Agencies do

When credit reference agencies receive a search from us they will

- Place a credit search 'footprint' on your company credit file whether or not this application proceeds. If the search was for a credit application the record of that search (but not the name of the organisation that carried it out) may be seen by other organisations when your business applies for credit in the future.
- Place an enquiry search on the personal credit files of any director/owner or partner that have been searched. Place an associate enquiry search on your personal financial partner's credit file, if that is checked. These enquiry searches will not be seen by other organisations if any director/owner or partner applies for credit in the future.
- Link together the previous and subsequent names advised by you, of anyone that is a party to the account.
- Place an enquiry or identification search on the record of any shareholder who is a beneficial owner and who we have checked.
- Create a record of the name and address of your business and its proprietors if there is not one already.

When credit reference agencies receive a search from us they will supply to us

- Information about your business or company such as previous applications for credit and the conduct of the accounts and also similar personal credit information in your name, your personal partner's name and of your business partners.
- Public information such as County Court Judgments (CCJs) and bankruptcies.
- Electoral Register information on you and your business partners.
- Fraud prevention information.
- Confirmation or otherwise that the usual residential addresses supplied by directors match those on the restricted register (see note 3) held at Companies House (or for those directors' addresses registered under section 2.43 of the Companies Act, that the usual residential addresses supplied by directors match those on the credit reference agency's proprietary business directory).

When information is supplied by us, to them, on your account(s)

- Credit reference agencies will record the details that are supplied on your business and business account including previous and subsequent names of parties to the account and how you manage it/them.
- If your business borrows and does not repay in full and on time, credit reference agencies will record the outstanding debt.
- Records shared with credit reference agencies remain on file for six years after they are closed whether settled by you or defaulted.
- Information on shareholders who are beneficial owners will be used and supplied to others only:
 - for the purpose of the performance of identity checks;
 - with their specific consent.

How your data WILL NOT be used by credit reference agencies

- It will not be used to create a blacklist.
- It will not be used by the credit reference agency to make a decision.

How your data WILL be used by credit reference agencies

- The information which we and other organisations provide to the credit reference agencies about you, your business partners and details about your business may be supplied by credit reference agencies to other organisations and used by them to:
 - prevent crime, fraud and money laundering by, for example checking details provided on applications for credit and credit related or other facilities;
 - check the operation of credit and credit-related accounts;
 - verify your identity if you or your business partner(s) applies for other facilities;
 - make decisions on credit and credit related services about you and/or your business partner, or your business;
 - manage your personal, your business partner's and/or business credit or credit related account(s);
 - trace your whereabouts and recover debts that you owe; and
 - undertake statistical analysis and system testing.

How your data may be used by fraud prevention agencies

- The information which we provide to the fraud prevention agencies about you, your business partners and your business may be supplied by fraud prevention agencies to other organisations and used by them and us to prevent crime, fraud and money laundering by, for example:
 - checking details provided on applications for credit and credit related or other facilities;
 - managing credit and credit related accounts or facilities;
 - cross checking details provided on proposals and claims for all types of insurance; and
 - checking details on applications for jobs or when checked as part of employment.
- Verify your identity if you or your business partner(s) applies for other facilities including all types of insurance proposals and claims.
- Trace your whereabouts and recover debts that you owe.
- Conduct other checks to prevent or detect fraud.
- Organisations may access and use from other countries the information recorded by fraud prevention agencies.
- Undertake statistical analysis and system testing.

Your data may also be used for other purposes for which you give your specific permission or, in very limited circumstances, when required by law or where permitted under the terms of the data protection legislation.

Your data may also be used to offer you other products, but only if permitted.

How to find out more

For information about your personal and business data you can contact the three agencies currently operating in the UK; the information they hold may not be the same so it is worth contacting them all. The Credit Reference Agencies may charge you a fee for providing this information.

If my application is declined, are other lenders likely to do the same?

Not necessarily. Other companies may apply different criteria to applications and use different methods of credit risk assessment. In some instances, they may place a different emphasis on the same information. This should not discourage you from applying elsewhere.

The fact that we have asked a credit reference agency for information about you will be recorded by that agency. Other credit providers may learn of this if they use the same agency and take it into consideration when assessing an application from you. It is unlikely that a single enquiry would cause problems.
